Sales & Letting – Overview

Clyde Property are Scotland's leading independent agent and have been successfully selling and letting residential property for over 35 years. We take great pride in delivering a high level of customer service to both clients and customers and strive to deliver excellence in every field.

We are a registered member of The Property Ombudsman Scheme for both Sales and Letting, upholding the Code of Practice for Letting Agents and the Code of Practice for Residential Estate Agents in Scotland.

As a member of Propertymark ARLA (the Association of Residential Letting Agents), Propertymark NAEA (the National Association of Estate Agents) and the Property Ombudsman, one of the requirements of our membership is that we have a clear written complaints procedure for assessing complaints about our service. It is also a requirement of The Letting Agent Code of Practice (Scotland) Regulations 2016.

Sales Complaints

All branch staff both sales and letting will deal with normal day-to-day problems on a one to one basis and will strive to resolve any issues as soon as possible. If branch staff are unable to resolve your problem, the Area Manager of the branch will be asked to assist. In the majority of cases your complaint will be successfully resolved at this level.

If your complaint is of Sales nature, and compensation is sought or you wish to raise a formal complaint, a written formal complaint should be submitted, together with any related documents, terms of business, tenancy agreement, inventory, copies of emails etc and sent to:
